Volume 3, Issue 7

Page 1

July 2007

Membership in the Tillicum Kiwanis is an opportunity to enjoy good company, find new friends, share a commitment to serve the community. Membership in Kiwanis -Tillicum is an opportunity to help feed the hungry in our community, improve the safety of our community, respond to families needing help trying to recover their lives after an emergency or crises. Tillicum Kiwanis support programs to enrich the community like the Senior Center of Snohomish, the Boys and Girls Club, construction and maintenance of City Parks, support of activity programs for the community like a fishing day for the disabled, an Easter Parade, Santa Klaus during the Home for Christmas Holiday celebration, the Salmon Bar B Que during the summer festival in Snohomish. Kiwanis Club of Snohomish - Tillicum grant Scholarships to students going on to College, give dictionaries to 3rd grade students in our school district, give hundreds of packets of books to families to support a home reading program, read to students in grade school in support of teaching staff and many more projects during the year.

How have we attained the ability to accomplish these efforts?

By following the Objects of Kiwanis:

- To give primacy to the human and spiritual, rather than the material values of life.
- To encourage the daily living of the Golden Rule in all human relationships.
- To promote the adoption and the application of higher social, business, and professional standards.
- To develop, by precept and example, a more intelligent, aggressive, and serviceable citizenship.
- To provide, through Kiwanis clubs, a practical means to form enduring friendships, to render altruistic service, and to build better communities.
- To cooperate in creating and maintaining that sound public opinion and high idealism which makes possible the increase of righteousness, justice, patriotism, and goodwill.

You and I are Proud to be Kiwanis - Let's Share this good life with others, bring a guest to join with us as a New Member of the Very Honorable Kiwanis Club of Snohomish - Tillicum!

New Executive Director for the Food Bank

John Bruce, June 22nd 2007

It has been almost a year since the Snohomish Community Food Bank has had a full fledged executive director when Beth Greenlee had to step down because of failing health. Cam McCrae filled in temporarily until his health also failed. Sonia Rahm took over as the acting director and she insisted someone fill the full Executive Director position before she fell victim to a similar fate. Well, in stepped Daryl Bertholet and accepted the position. Daryl is a member of the Snohomish (downtown) Kiwanis club and has lots of experience in the public sector.

The following articles were taken from 2005-2006 Kiwanis International Annual Report titled “You are making a Difference” :-

Two makes twice the difference

Dublin, Ohio, is a charming community situated on the Scioto River on the northwest side of metropolitan Columbus.

It has a historic district.
It has ice-skating rinks.
It has a community pool.
It has a 19th century garden.

It has a middle school that has been honored with the promising designation “School to Watch.”

It has the Kiwanis Club of Dublin, which sponsors three Key Clubs, maintains a riverside walking trail, supports a drug-awareness campaign, and sponsors a highly popular frogjumping contest. But the people of Dublin knew they could do even more. They knew Dublin still has people in need. People who struggle to feed their families. People who cannot afford to celebrate Christmas. Thus was born the Kiwanis Club of Greater Dublin.

The club organized on May 30, 2006, with 86 names on its roster and soon grew to more than 100 Kiwanians. Within months, the club was working with a food bank, raising $12,000 with a golf outing/dinner, and playing Santa Claus for needy families.

In times of disaster, the answer is Kiwanis

When Hurricane Katrina finished destroying the United States Gulf Coast, questions began. They were painful questions, but the answers were even more painful.

Where? With such widespread destruction, there seemed no logical place to begin.

When? Washed-out roads, unstable structures, and disease hampered recovery.

How? Many Kiwanians were overwhelmed by their own needs.

Through their donations to the Kiwanis International Foundation’s Disaster Relief Fund, Kiwanis clubs and members worldwide provided the answers. One Foundation grant kept the Louisiana-Mississippi-West Tennessee District operating. Other grants re-opened and restocked schools and replenished Kiwanis clubs’ depleted service accounts.

In addition to the financial aid, Kiwanis help arrived from communities throughout North America: a truckload of Christmas toys from Ohio, 5,000 teddy bears from Florida, emergency supplies from California, and work crews from Louisiana.

Kiwanis’ response, remembers Gulfport, Mississippi, Kiwanian Dennis Oliver, “was—and continues to be—an outpouring of love, gifts, and caring from all around the world.”

Live from New York: It's CKI!

from Kiwanis International Website June 5, 2007

Tactics for getting the word out about Circle K run the gamut from handing out fliers to yelling through a megaphone.

But Circle K'ers from Pennsylvania and New York might take top prize for publicity stunts—not to mention dedication and commitment—for a recent trip to New York City.

No, they weren't in the city for a service project. They didn't travel there for a fundraiser, either. Nope. Fourteen Pennsylvania Circle K'ers met up with one New York Circle K'er in the Big Apple for one reason only—to get on television and yell about Circle K and Kiwanis.

It worked.

"We were in line at 3:30 a.m. to get into The Today Show crowd," says Kady Snyder, Pennsylvania District governor. "We made friends with a cameraman, and he told us the key spot to stand to get on TV. Apparently it worked—we got on TV six times! Five of those times were just shots of us going crazy, yelling, and dancing, but one was when Al Roker interviewed one of us and asked all about Circle K. People in the audience were funny because they were calling their families at home telling them to look for them in the crowd. They said 'Just look for the big, red mob of Circle K'ers ... yeah, it's a service group sponsored by Kiwanis.' So everyone was gabbing about CKI!"

The Circle K'ers used signs and a banner to grab more attention.

"Matt Lauer, Meredith Vieira, and Al Roker signed our Everyday Heroes banner," Kady says. "As I travel across the district, it's my goal to get every club's signature on the banner. So now we have a square on the banner with The Today Show celebs' signatures. We also had signs that said things like 'PA Circle K,' 'Live to serve,' 'Hi Kiwanis,' and 'We go Circle K-razy for The Today Show.'"

After the show finished taping, the group hit the streets for a little sightseeing. It was then that they started to get an idea of how well their TV appearance worked.

"We were walking down the street and at least 15 people were like, 'Oh my gosh, Circle K! We just saw you on TV!' A man with a headset came running up to us and asked if we would be in the crowd of the 'Mike & Juliet Morning Show.' So we stood in the crowd of this show and went crazy for a while. Then the producer of the show came out and asked what Circle K was, and asked for our contact information. They'd like to have us at the show sometime! We might be on TV again!"

"While our numbers weren't huge, we were definitely effective," Kady says.

After dinner in the city, the Circle K'ers found themselves drawn once again to what they do best—helping others.

"We were in the city to promote Circle K," Kady says, "but we did end up giving leftovers from dinner to some homeless people we saw on the street. I guess you can't keep Circle K'ers from doing service!"
